

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A reflected light from a Bragg grating in an electrical transformer or other apparatus at which temperature is to be measured, is positioned by an optocoupler through a second fiber provided with a second Bragg grating whose reflection wavelength is different from that of the first grating. The nonreflected light intensity is measured by a photodetector and is used to signal the temperature measurement.

ef-